As a regular listener of KLOVE radio, I am writing you with my concerns regarding the possibility of changes with LPFM broadcast services. We have listened and supported KLOVE for many years, and believe it is important to continue a radio station that is supported by its listeners and offers a commercial-free option for us to listen to Christian music. Without this type of broadcast service, our ability to receive this type of ministry would virtually disappear, as this radio station can not afford to compete. KLOVE provides a unique type of ministry that is not available anywhere else, and I truly believe it is in the interest of the public who are dealing with personal issues on a daily basis to have a resource such as KLOVE to help them deal with these issues. Please consider the ramifications for these individuals as you make your decisions.
